

If I Was Going On Noah's Ark

This game my wife made up to play with our young grandchildren. The object is for young children to think of animals, food and supplies that start with progressing letters of the alphabet that they would take on Noah's Ark during Bible Times. You need at least one adult and two young children.

The first person starts out by saying: "If I was going on Noah's ark and could take only one thing that starts with the letter A, I would take an ...". Then the next person repeats: "If I was going on Noah's ark and could take only one thing that starts with the letter A, I would take an ..." (They state something other than what the first person said.) Then the next person repeats: "If I was going on Noah's ark and could take only one thing that starts with the letter A, I would take an ..." (They state something other than what the other persons said.)

After the last person, then the first person starts: "If I was going on Noah's ark and could take only one thing that starts with the letter B, I would take a ..." Then the next person repeats: "If I was going on Noah's ark and could take only one thing that starts with the letter B, I would take a ..." (They state something other than what the first person said.) Then the next person repeats: "If I was going on Noah's ark and could take only one thing that starts with the letter B, I would take a ..." (They state something other than what the other persons said.)

This continues through the alphabet.
