I Wish You Had Told Me

My wife attended a drama conference in Kansas City, Kansas during the first week of February. While she was there the worst snowstorm in 20 years hit the city. Road crews were not prepared. Drivers had no clue what to do.

As she does in PA, my wife started up the rental car to get it warm. Then she got out to clear the snow. As soon as she shut the car door, the doors auto locked. She did not have a second set of keys so she had to call the rental place. The rental place showed up an hour later. By that time the car was warm but she missed her flight home. The rental place told her that the car had an auto lock system, which engages after the car is started. She said, "I wish you told had me."

Only those who knew and accepted the way of salvation will be allowed in heaven. Will our friends, neighbors, co-workers, and relatives be locked out of heaven? Will they say to us: "I wish you had told me."

"How then shall they call on him in whom they have not believed? And how shall they believe in him of whom they have not heard?" Rom 10: 14
